Paris March 1.

An Ordinance of the Lieutenant-General de Police to the Officers commanding within the Jurisdiction of the Palace-Court. To be obſerved as a general Rule by the Shopkeepers and others within the Halls, Galleries, and Incloſures of that Court, viz.

UPON a Remonſtrance made to us by the King's Attorney, that although for the preventing all Diſputes which might ariſe between the Shopkeepers in the Halls and Galleries of the Court, with Regard to their Trade, the jutting forward of their Shop Windows and Stalls, their Signs, the ſhutting their Shops up at Night, the Uſe of Stoves, and the playing at Shuttlecock and other Games, which incommode Paſſengers; as alſo the Dirt they make, carry, or order to be carried into the Halls and By-Ways of the Court; and likewiſe concerning Beggars, Vagabonds, and idle Perſons, which aſſemble together within the Courts to play; and alſo concerning Hawkers and Sellers of Herbs, or other Commodities; we have paſſed divers Sentences and Ordinances with Regard to the foregoing Inconvencences, nevertheleſs the ſaid Orders are daily infringed; wherefore it is neceſſary they be reiterated, and that the ſtrictest Prohibitions be made, under the ſevereſt Puniſhments, to Perſons who act contrary to the ſaid Ordinances; alſo that the ſame be committed by us to the Care of certain Tradeſmen of the ſaid Halls, who are hereby appointed by Turns to cauſe the ſaid Ordinances to be duly executed, and for which they ſhall be indemnified. Wherefore being reſolved to do Juſtice on this Head, we order that our Sentences and Ordinances upon what is mentioned above, ſhall be executed, as follows:

Article I. We prohibit all the Shopkeepers of the Palace Court to open their Shops upon Sundays and Feſtivals, or to work on the ſaid Days, under Penalty of 100 Livres Fine; and to the Tradeſmen of the great Hall to open their Shops during the Celebration of Maſs which is ſaid at the Chapel of the ſaid great Hall, under Penalty of 10 Livres Fine.

II. We forbid all the ſaid Shopkeepers to compel Perſons who paſs by to come into their Shops, or to call, or to hold them by the Arms, under Penalty of 20 Livres Fine.

III. We likewiſe forbid them to put any thing at their Shop Windows that may obſtruct or incommode their Neighbours, or to extend their Front beyond the juſt Limits of each Shop, under Forfeiture of 30 Livres.

Furthermore we will, that our Ordinance of the 2nd of laſt June, touching the Signs, and Shutters of the Sky-Lights in the Mercers Hall, ſhall be put in Execution according to its Form and Tenour.

IV. We ſtrictly forbid all the Shopkeepers of the Palace Court to have at Night in their Shops any Chafing-Diſhes, Sheards, or Stoves where there is Fire, under Pain of 100 Livres Fine: And likewiſe to make a Kitchen in the Shops, which is very incommodious to their Neighbours, on Forfeiture of 100 Livres Fine.

V. We command them to ſhut their Shops at Eleven of the Clock in Winter, and at Eight in Summer, and ſoon as the Trumpet which ſhall give the Notice has done Sounding, on Penalty of 10 Livres Fine.

VI. It is likewiſe forbid all Perſons whatſoever, to throw any Dirt, we order it to be carried as uſual to any of the Paſſages, the Halls and Galleries of the Palace Court, becauſe the Places appointed for that Purpoſe by our Ordinance of the 20th of November laſt, under Penalty of 20 Livres Fine.

VII. We prohibit all Beggars, Vagabonds, idle Perſons, Footmen, Porters, and others of that Kind, to aſſemble and play at Cards, Dice, and other Games within the Halls of the Palace, or to gather together upon the Stairs of the ſame, or upon the Chamber of Accounts and Courts of the Palace, on Pain of corporal Puniſhment, and of being put in Priſon.

VIII. We Command alſo, that all Children, Boys and Girls, belonging to the Shops, be not ſuffered to play with Tops, Shuttlecock, at Ball, or other Games, which may either incommode or hurt Paſſengers, under Penalty of 10 Livres Fine, to be levied upon their Fathers and Mothers, Maſters and Miſtreſſes.

IX. Likewiſe we prohibit all Hawkers and Pedlars, Retailers of Herbs, Bakers, or Paſtry-Cooks, to vent their Goods or other Commodities, or to expoſe them to Sale in the Halls of the Palace Court, under pain of Confiſcation of the ſaid Goods to the Benefit of the Poor Priſoners of the Conciergerie.

X. We forbid alſo all Carriers, Coachmen, Poſtilions, Carmen, Grooms, or others, to go through the Old Court of the Palace, or to carry their Horſes to the watering Place there, or to bring them back by that Way, under pain of Impriſonment and 30 Livres Fine; which Sum the Maſters ſhall be Security for, and conſtrained to pay to, by Seizure of their Horſes; the third part of the ſaid Fine to be given to any of our Keepers of the Palace-Court who ſhall make the ſaid Seizure; to which Purpoſe we charge them to put the preſent Article in ſtrict Execution.

XI. We command the eldeſt Tradeſmen, who by us are appointed Overſeers of the Government of the Halls of the Palace, alſo the Watch of this Juriſdiction and thoſe that have the Care of the Palace Court, and alſo the other Shopkeepers by us appointed, to put ſtrictly in Execution every thing ordained as above; for the Performance of which, each of them, by Turns, ſhall every Night for the Space of a Week ſearch in all the Shops, and ſee if they can find any thing which might ſet them on Fire; and this to be done ſucceſſively, each his Week, and that no one may be excuſed, on any Pretence whatſoever, without a very juſt Cauſe.

XII. We order the Perſons that ſhall be appointed to inſpect the Mercers Hall, the Dauphin's-Hall, the Great Hall, and the Gallery of the Priſoners, to make their Report to us of the Treſpaſſes they ſhall diſcover, in order to be by us provided againſt; and this preſent Ordinance ſhall be put in Execution notwithſtanding all Exceptions or Appeals whatſoever, which ſhall no ways Prejudice it, but as an Act de Police, ſhall be read, publiſhed, and fixed up in the Halls, Galleries, and Incloſures of the Palace-Court, that no Perſon may pretend Ignorance. Given by us Nicholas Saunier, King's Counſellour, Lieutenant-General, Civil, Criminal, and of the Civil Government of the Bailiwick of the Palace-Court, the 20th of December 1723.

Signed Saunier,
De Boucheures,
